

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

For recording selected content for later playback from a broadcast, a recording process records at least one content item for later playback, identifying that content item using its content and storing a respective item identifier indicative of the content item

5 for that content item.